Summary:

I am very passionate about coding and everything technology based, its been my passion ever since I was a child. I constantly strive to learn more and more about it each and every day. I look to find others like me in a comfortable working environment, working with and for other people in the tech sphere.

Key Skills:

Very easily adaptable to lots of different languages and software. For example I had to restart a game I was working on, using a different game engine (unreal to godot, due to technical limitations)

Keen problem solver: I have a lot of experiences overcoming difficulties when it comes to coding. For example deriving a system to transform the user with a portal that maintains momentum

Strong team worker and leader – I have worked with a team on an independent project, where I have lead the planning and structure of the project, making and directing the decisions over 4 teammates.
